After the relatively difficult Easter period, quality angling was resumed despite last weekend's blustery conditions. Those out on a boat endured horrendous winds, yet still managed several eight fish limit bags.

The calm after the storm saw bank fishing more manageable and anglers who noted the Hawthorn fly hatch caught with ease. A drop in water temperature was an advantage and as with previous reports, the Trout seemed to be resident in the top two foot of water.

All areas have produced quality fish with many well over three pounds, presumed to be over wintering fish. Most surprising were the number of fish caught in the main bowl on static orange blobs, a fly that traditionalists often ignore to their cost!

Pike have been very active and anglers who catch them, either by design or accident, should return them with utmost care, allowing a sufficient period of rest
