Water level	91%
Water temperature	20c

A most frustrating 10 days for both fly and lure anglers. Water temperature has risen to a summer high of 20c which equates to our stock of Trout being reluctant to feed. Despite the testing conditions, several anglers achieved an 8 fish bag with several fish well over 3lbs.

No individual fly has been dominant, but Minkies and Cormorants are the seasonal choice for many along with CDC fry patterns. A 'twitched' orange blob may produce, especially during mid-afternoon.

Lure anglers have found our range of Berti spoons most effective. Not unlike the Swedish ABU Toby in design, these Romanian lures are very light and available in a multitude of colours for every eventuality. Available at £4.60 in the lodge.

By far the best time to catch at present is from the bank in the early hours, you will be amazed at the water activity just after dawn and the fish are within easy casting distance with just the sound of Grebes and Coots to keep you company.

For an 'early bird' bank ticket, simply phone the lodge the day before.

Everyone at Bewl agrees this has been a tremendous first three months of the season, and we thank all contributors who offer their returns at the end of the day. The Trout from both of our suppliers arrive fighting fit and most, if not all of our customers go home with aching arms.

As June comes to a close, we have forecasts of hot humid weather so you may be advised to use suitable sun protection cream when fishing during the coming week.
